Poole Printmakers See the Forest in a new light

Using a variety of printing techniques, both modern and traditional, high and low tech, Poole Printmakers have taken the Forest to heart and produced a stunning collection of images that reflect the essence of this unique environment. Japanese printmaking, monoprinting and linocut illustration are just some of the techniques engaged.

Some images are easily recognisable as specific locations within the Forest whilst others capture the transient beauty of the changing landscape through the seasons. The iconic pony and the tall majestic oak are celebrated alongside cool landscapes and expansive skies.

With Poole Printmakers offering a variety of summer and autumn courses this year, if you feel inspired by what you see you'll be able to sign up and take up a new skill. The Poole Painting Studio is in an historic building in a hidden corner of old Poole and beginners and more experienced printmakers are welcome.
